

2019 All-American Bowl commit, wide receiver Jadon Haselwood, stars in inaugural high school football game to be streamed live on Twitter

Five-star Georgia commit set to showcase elite talent on adidas' first Friday Night Stripes broadcast on September 7

4 September 2018 – 2019 All-American Bowl commit, wide receiver Jadon Haselwood will put his talents on display during the first Friday Night Stripes broadcast streamed live on Twitter on Friday, September 7. This landmark broadcast will feature Haselwood's Cedar Grove High School going up against McEachern High School.

Verbally committed to the University of Georgia, Haselwood is considered the No. 1 wide receiver prospect in the 2019 class and the No. 3 overall recruit regardless of position in the entire country. He will play his final high school game in the 2019 All-American Bowl Presented By American Family Insurance on Saturday, January 5, 2019. As usual the Bowl will be nationally televised live on NBC, at 1:00 PM Eastern from the Alamodome in San Antonio, Texas.

For 19 years the All-American Bowl has been the nation's premier high school all-star event and football game, serving as the introduction to the future of college football and the NFL. Odell Beckham Jr., Andrew Luck, Jalen Ramsey, Ezekiel Elliott, Patrick Peterson, Tim Tebow, and Sam Darnold are just some who made their national debuts in the All-American Bowl. A total of 351 All-American alumni have been selected in NFL Drafts. Last year's Bowl drew an all-time record crowd of 41,017 to the Alamodome.
